On Base Productions wins Telly Award

By PMG STAFF

NILES — On Base Productions was awarded a Gold Telly Award at the 47th annual Telly Awards for its video, "Discover Buchanan Community Schools," created in partnership with Buchanan Community Schools.

The Telly Awards, established in 1979, are among the most respected honors in video and television production, recognizing excellence across all screens and receiving more than 13,000 entries from around the world each year. Winners are selected by a judging council of more than 250 industry leaders representing organizations such as Netflix, HBO, Meta Creative Shop, IMAX, Adobe, and the BBC.

The Gold Telly represents a significant milestone for On Base Productions. While the company has earned recognition from the Telly Awards for five consecutive years, this marks the first time the company has received the organization's highest honor.

The award-winning Discover Buchanan Community Schools video was designed to showcase the district's students, staff, programs, and culture while helping attract new families and celebrate the strengths of the Buchanan community.

"We are incredibly grateful to Charles and On Base Productions for their dedication to the 'Discover Buchanan Community Schools' video project," said Superintendent Patricia Robinson. "Charles's exceptional professionalism, collaborative spirit, and creative vision allowed us to showcase the very best of our schools, students, and staff. He has delivered a powerful tool to help us promote our district, and we couldn't be happier with the final result. Congratulations, Charles, on this outstanding achievement."

For Charles Nelson, founder of On Base Productions, the recognition reflects the power of authentic storytelling and strong community partnerships.

"Winning a Gold Telly Award is an incredible honor, but what makes this award especially meaningful is the partnership behind it," Nelson said. "Buchanan Community Schools opened their doors and trusted us to tell their story. This project was about highlighting the

The Grooming Shop celebrates 30 years in Edwardsburg

By MAXWELL HARDEN

EDWARDSBURG — An Edwardsburg business is celebrating 30 years of pampering canine companions.

The Grooming Shop Salon and Spa is celebrating 30 years of serving pets and families throughout Edwardsburg and surrounding communities.

"A friend of mine was the only groomer in town, and she was driving in from Wyatt for three years," said founder Kris Elston. "She was like, 'I can't do it anymore. You need to open a shop.' This place was for rent, so I rented it for a few years and then I bought it. Been here 30 years now and it seemed like it went really, really fast. It doesn't seem like it could possibly be 30 years. But then again, I look at my grandkids, and they can't be teenagers yet either. It really has gone fast, but it's been so rewarding. I cannot imagine doing anything else with my life."

Founded by Elston in 1996, The Grooming Shop, 26286 U.S. Hwy 12, has built a reputation for compassionate care, professional grooming and lasting relationships with generations of loyal clients.

"It's physical, it's demanding but to know that the animals are treated well and where I would take mine if I wasn't doing it, that's a biggie That's really a biggie because these are my babies," Elston said. "Every dog is treated like I would treat mine. Everybody that's here is because that's how they would treat theirs. We have special needs here and different personalities; they need this or they need that and we accommodate what we can.

"I just did a nail trim on a chihuahua who is really old and has gotten frightened," Elston continued. "But we found out that he does better if he's just being held while another groomer does his nails instead of going on a table. As they age, they get a little quirky. We spend enough time with each one to learn their quirks. It's small enough that we know the dogs and the people coming in. My very first customer is still coming."

The Grooming Shop continues to invest in specialized equipment, advanced grooming education and personalized care for every pet that walks through its doors. According to Elston, the grooming industry has changed since she first started 30 years ago.

Niles funeral director joins leadership of Michigan Funeral Directors Association

By PMG STAFF

LANSING — James Meyer, CFSP, of Halbritter Wickens Funeral Services in Niles was recently elected Secretary and Treasurer of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association.

The MFDA is a professional organization representing roughly 1,100 funeral directors serving 465 funeral homes statewide and over three-quarters of all mortuary science licensees in Michigan.

"Jim brings decades of experience, deep professional knowledge and a strong commitment to service to MFDA's leadership team," said Phil Douma, executive director of the MFDA. "Throughout his career, he has remained deeply engaged in the profession and committed to supporting both his colleagues and the families they serve. That kind of steady, service-minded leadership will be a tremendous asset to MFDA."

MEYER

Meyer's career in funeral service began in 1975, when he started working at a local funeral home in Kansas while attending music school. He later graduated from the Kansas City Kansas Community College Department of Mortuary Science and earned licensure as both a funeral director and embalmer. Meyer moved to Michigan in 1986 to work with Halbritter Funeral Home in Niles. Now with Halbritter Wickens Funeral Services, Meyer has spent his career working in local, family-owned funeral homes.

Meyer has been an active member of district, state and national funeral director associations throughout his career. He previously served on the MFDA Board of Directors representing District No. 3 in Southwest Michigan and has remained closely involved with the association through district meetings, annual conventions and quarterly working group meetings with MFDA, Gift of Life and Eversight. He also serves on the Michigan Mortuary Response Team Command Staff and was deployed during the COVID-19 pandemic.

In addition to his MFDA involvement, Meyer is a member of the Academy of Professional Funeral Service Practice and the British Institute of Embalmers, where he serves on the board of the North

$100K anonymous donation, $20K grant to bolster Buchanan athletics upgrades

By MAXWELL HARDEN
max.harden@leaderpub.com

BUCHANAN — Buchanan Community Schools announced a series of major upgrades to its high school athletic facilities following key approvals at its May 18 Board of Education meeting.

The district has received a $100,000 anonymous donation dedicated to resurfacing the Buchanan High School track, alongside a $20,000 grant from the Michigan Gateway Community Foundation to patch and recoat the four BHS tennis courts.

Together, the projects are estimated to cost approximately $441,000. The remaining balance will be funded through the district's voter-approved sinking fund, allowing these vital improvements to move forward immediately without impacting the district's general education budget.

The $100,000 anonymous gift provides a jumpstart for the track resurfacing, an upgrade that district officials said will benefit physical education classes, track and field athletes and community members who use the facility daily.

"We are fortunate to have community partners and donors who see a need and step up to meet it," said Superintendent Patricia Robinson. "This kind of investment is exactly what our strategic plan envisions a community that believes in our students and works alongside us to build the infrastructure they deserve."

"We are profoundly grateful for this incredible act of generosity," added School Board President Katie Berry. "An anonymous gift of this magnitude speaks volumes about the love people have for this community and our students. This donation, paired with our grant funding, allows us to provide the facilities that our Bucks truly deserve."

The four tennis courts will also see a complete revitalization thanks to the $20,000 grant from the Michigan Gateway Community Foundation, ensuring a safer and more competitive playing surface.

"Investing in our youth and our community assets is at the

Local theater programs earn WAVE Performing Arts Awards

By PMG STAFF

BENTON HARBOR — Three local high schools took home hardware in the fifth annual WAVE Awards for Excellence in High School Musical Theatre at the Mendel Center Mainstage on the Benton Harbor Campus, 2755 E. Napier Ave. Wednesday, May 20.

Edwardsburg's "Mamma Mia!" earned a WAVE Award for Outstanding Set Design in a Musical (Kyle Rehnlund, Andrew Hamilton, & Emma Hurley), Dowagiac's "Frozen, Jr." for Outstanding Light Design (Lincoln Clark) and Brandywine's "Beetlejuice" won the Featured "Special" Award for "The Sandstorm."

Edwardsburg was nominated for 10 awards, Dowagiac eight and Brandywine four. Loosely designed after Broadway's famed Tony Awards, the WAVE Awards is meant to recognize, encourage and promote excellence in high school musical theatre. This annual event also offers students and production staff a valuable educational opportunity through written feedback from highly qualified arts professionals, additional performance opportunities, scholarship opportunities, a sense of belonging and value in the local arts community, and public recognition for a job well done.

The participating schools were evaluated by 10 adjudicators, and about 890 students participated in the musicals that were reviewed.

"When we launched the WAVE Awards five years ago, we dreamed of creating something that would unite and elevate high school musical theatre across our community, and the growth we've seen over these years is proof that dream has taken hold," said Kristopher Zook, LMC Dean of Arts & Sciences and founder of the WAVE Awards. "With more participating schools than ever before, the energy and talent on display each year is extraordinary. This event has become a true celebration of what young artists can achieve."

All nominees received an LMC Red Hawk Scholarship good for a three-credit course taken within the next four academic years and written feedback from a panel of arts professionals. The lead actor recipients also received $1,000 Sierra Loughrin Scholarships to participate in LMC Visual & Performing Arts coursework at LMC.

Wednesday's event began with red-carpet arrivals, followed by the awards ceremony, which included several musical production numbers. Students from all participating high schools and Lake Michigan College opened the night with a combined performance of I Hope I Get It from A Chorus Line, choreographed by Kelsey Trux. Concord HS performed Bring My Baby (Brother) Home from Freaky Friday, Edwardsburg HS performed Honey, Honey from Mamma Mia!, James Whitcomb Riley HS preformed the title song from The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee, Lakeshore HS performed One Normal Night from The Addams Family Musical, Paw Paw HS performed Go, Go, Go, Joseph from Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Penn HS performed All I've Ever Known/ Way Down Hadestown from Hadestown: Teen Edition, and South Haven HS performed Feel It Like Everyone from The Olympians: An Epic Muse-ical.

Area residents sentenced to prison

BURLAND

NILES — Three area residents were sentenced to prison Monday in Berrien County Trial Court sentencings at the Niles courthouse.

HORTON

April Mae Horton, 50, of Niles, pleaded guilty to drug and other charges in four separate incidents and received concurrent prison sentences.

She pleaded guilty to second offense possession of methamphetamine from a November, 2025 incident in Niles and was sentenced to 20 months to 20 years in prison with credit for 185 days already served. She must pay $598 in fines and costs.

She also pleaded guilty to possession of methamphetamine from a May, 2025 incident in Niles and was sentenced to 20 months to 10 years in prison with credit for 183 days served and $68 in fines and costs.

She received a prison sentence of 14 months to two years for possession of LSD occurring Feb. 2 in Niles. She has credit for 68 days already served and must pay $68 in fines and costs.

She pleaded guilty to tampering with an electronic device occurring March 3 in Niles and was sentenced to 14 months to two years in prison with credit for 68 days served and $68 in fines and costs.

Berrien County Assistant Prosecutor Myrene Koch noted that Horton had a prior record of five felony and 27 misdemeanor convictions. She said she didn't think Horton would be a good candidate for probation as she's violated probation and parole previously.

Defense attorney Shayne Williams said that Horton had been accepted into the county's drug recovery court. For her part, Horton said she's ready to turn her life around and believed that she could successfully complete a treatment program.

Berrien County Trial Court Judge Gordon Hosbein pointed out that Horton's criminal history goes back 30 years and she continued to commit crimes even when on bond in these cases.

"What that's telling me is that you have no respect for the system, the rules or the orders of the court," he said. "You could go to probation and you'd be right back here."

"I'd be a fool to think that something has changed," he added. "You could have proved differently 10, 15 or 27 times. You've been given opportunities, I'd be a fool to think something has changed."

Phillip Joshua Greenlea, 22, of Granger, Ind. pleaded guilty to criminal sexual conduct-assault with intent to commit sexual penetration and was sentenced to 30 months to 10 years in prison with credit for 361 days served. He must pay $258 in fines and costs and register as a sex offender for the rest of his life.

He also pleaded guilty to second degree criminal sexual conduct and was sentenced to 14 months to five years in prison with credit for 361 days served and $68 in fines and costs. The prison terms are concurrent.

The incidents occurred between June and November of 2024 in Buchanan.

The victim spoke before sentencing and said the incidents had "changed who I am at my core" and deeply impacted her mental health. She said that while she has continued anxiety, she said she won't let it define the rest of her life.

Johnathan Thomas Burland, 35, of Niles, pleaded guilty to second offense unlawful driving away of an automobile and was sentenced to 14 months to 90 months in prison. He has credit for 75 days already served and must pay $198 in fines and costs and $4,618 in restitution.

The incident occurred March 18 in Niles when he took his parents' car and damaged it.

Defense attorney Carrie Briseno said Burland has a lot of remorse for what happened and is ready to change. She said he has been accepted into one of the court's treatment programs to address his substance abuse issues. Burland said he regretted his actions and had been self medicating with alcohol and drugs rather than taking his medications.

Judge Hosbein said that Burland's statements to his mother as well as to police were "worrisome." "You have 20 convictions," he said. "I'm sure a lot of them revolve around mental health and substance abuse issues but it's disturbing that your actions show blatant disregard for the rules of the community. I don't think probation is appropriate."

Zablocki-Kohler named principal at New Buffalo

By JOCELYNE TUSZYNSKI
Paxton Media Group

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo school board approved Superintendent Adam Bowen's recommendation to hire Emily Zablocki-Kohler as the new high school principal.

"Emily comes to us from the Brandywine District as the MTSS coordinator," Bowen said during the May 27 meeting. "This means she's in charge of giving multiple tiers of instruction through various different levels throughout the district, as well as instructional coaching. She was in charge of AP courses at her previous school in South Bend."

Students had a chance to ask Zablocki-Kohler questions during a school tour as part of the interview process. She will step into the role in July after current Principal Tracy Ripley retires at the end of the 2025-26 school year.

"I am really excited about this opportunity," Zablocki-Kohler told school board members. "I don't want to wish away summer, but I am eager to meet the students and parents, teachers, staff and the community."

Zablocki-Kohler said she has been an educator for 21 years, the last seven of which at Brandywine, and this will be her first time serving as a principal.

"I bring a well-rounded foundation in education that bridges deep instructional roots with systemic leadership," she said. "Having spent the majority of my career as a high school science teacher, I understand the daily realities, challenges and passions of classroom educators. My time as an MTSS coordinator has allowed me to lead data-driven, school-wide systems that support all students. While this is my first principalship, I believe my previous roles complement one another and have shown me what it takes to help both teachers and students thrive."

Zablocki-Kohler said there is something truly special about how a small-school community can rally around and support every student.

"During my interviews, I loved hearing from New Buffalo's amazing educators, who are so clearly committed to doing what is best for kids while pushing them to achieve at high levels. I look forward to being a part of this community, building on our traditions of excellence, and ensuring our graduates are well-equipped to thrive in the world beyond high school," she said.

State's wholesale marijuana tax revenue far below projections

By BETH LEBLANC
The Detroit News (TNS)

LANSING — Michigan's new 24 percent wholesale tax on marijuana brought in less tax revenue than projected in the first quarter of its existence, generating less money for repairing roads, according to a state treasury report.

When lawmakers voted to implement the wholesale tax last year, a nonpartisan House Fiscal Agency analysis estimated it would bring in about $420 million a year, or about $105 million a quarter.

But the Michigan Treasury Department report indicates the new tax has brought in nearly $34 million through the end of April, less than 33 percent of the original projection.

The new tax, which went into effect Jan. 1, is supposed to be a key contributor to a revamped state plan to fund road improvements. The tax revenue report was first reported by Crain's Detroit Business.

The Michigan Cannabis Industry Association pointed to the lower-than-expected collections in the first quarter of 2026 as proof of its prediction that sales would decline because of the new tax.

The cannabis industry trade group has argued over the past several months that a wholesale tax on marijuana – which already carries a 6 percent sales tax and 10 percent excise tax – would flatten the industry and push more people toward the illegal market.

A case challenging the legality of the tax is pending in court.

U.S. Customs 'ready to go' at Gordie Howe Bridge once trade talks are resolved

By MELISSA NANN BURKE
The Detroit News (TNS)

WASHINGTON — The Department of Homeland Security secretary confirmed this week that Customs & Border Protection staff are "good to go" to facilitate trade and travel across the newly built Gordie Howe International Bridge, once negotiations between Canada and the United States are resolved.

"We have the personnel dedicated, ready to move," DHS Secretary Markwayne Mullin told the Senate Appropriations Committee on Monday about the Detroit River span between Detroit and Windsor, Ontario.

"We're prepared, we're staffed, ready to go. ... There's still negotiations between Canada and the United States that's not within DHS that has to be resolved. But we're as far as we can go without the sign off from the bridge and the final agreement between the two countries."

In response to questions from Sen. Gary Peters, D-Bloomfield Township, Mullin also said that the bridge contractor hasn't signed off on "final stuff," missing a May 1 deadline, "so we're waiting on that to take place."

A spokeswoman for the Windsor-Detroit Bridge Authority, which has overseen bridge construction, said Monday that the span is "progressing well towards a spring opening."

"The exact opening date depends on the completion of the ongoing quality reviews and testing and commissioning activities," WDBA spokeswoman Tara Carson told The Detroit News by email.

The Detroit News reported last week that, after eight years of construction, testing of all systems at the bridge, customs plazas and ramps connecting to Michigan and Ontario freeways could be days away from being complete, according to two sources with direct knowledge of the progress.

"Right now, everybody is excited about it – across business, all sectors of Michigan's economy and the Midwest," Peters told Mullin.

"The only person that I know, there's one billionaire that's against it, and that's a person who owns a competing bridge, a private bridge that's competing," Peters added in a reference to Ambassador Bridge owner Matthew Moroun. "Other than that, there's universal support."

It wasn't clear which negotiations Mullin was referring to regarding the U.S. and Canada, though U.S. Ambassador to Canada Pete Hoekstra told The Detroit News a month ago that the Trump administration has yet to reach an agreement with the Canadian government regarding the opening of the Detroit River span.

"At the end of the day, the president will have to sign off on it," Hoekstra said of an eventual agreement. "There's a lot of issues right now between the U.S. and Canada. The bridge is one more."

The U.S. president has demanded concessions from Canada in trade talks or a share of future toll revenue, as a condition for opening the 1.5-mile, six-lane span. And no approvals for the bridge to open to traffic will be granted by the Federal Highway Administration without the blessing of the Trump White House, sources told The News last week.

Part of the holdup, according to Hoekstra, is the fact that many of the conditions under which a 2012 agreement between Michigan and Canada haven't materialized, with the $4.7 billion project coming in over budget, while border traffic is down.

Under the original deal, Michigan and Canada would share equal ownership of the bridge, but Michigan won't benefit from the toll revenue until Canada pays off the debt it incurred constructing the six-lane span, customs plazas and connections to Interstate 75 in Detroit and Ontario's 401 Highway.

But with a debt of roughly $6.4 billion in Canadian dollars and what Hoekstra has estimated to be an about 4.8 percent interest rate, there are questions about Canada's ability to ever recoup its costs and, by extension, Michigan's eventual share of revenue, Hoekstra said this spring.

"This is just another example of President Trump putting America's interests first, and so he made that very clear in his call with Prime Minister Carney earlier today," White House press secretary Karoline Leavitt said after Trump's threat in February.

Delaying the opening of the bridge in turn delays the date in the future when Canada's investment is paid off and Michigan can start collecting its share of toll revenues, said Roy Norton, a former Canadian consul general to Detroit who was heavily involved in the 2012 deal to build the new bridge.

"The president's action, if this persists month after month, has the effect of delaying the point in time in which Michigan ultimately receives its share of revenues, which is ironic and perverse," Norton said Monday in a telephone interview with The News.

The ongoing talks between the U.S. and Canada follow Trump's February threat to block the bridge's opening amid trade disputes and complaints about the United States' share of bridge ownership.

He aired a number of complaints about Canada, including its refusal to stock some U.S. alcoholic beverages on Canadian shelves, its tariffs on dairy products and its trade talks with China.

More cities are pressing pause on data centers

By ROBBIE SEQUEIRA
Stateline.org (TNS)

Hearing backlash from residents, cities and counties across the country in recent weeks have blocked planned data centers amid concerns over rising electricity prices and environmental harms.

The local actions come as state lawmakers also are looking to limit or repeal the incentives for the centers, which are sprawling campuses of computer servers that store and transmit the data behind apps and websites.

Supporters of the pauses say cities need rules before projects arrive, especially to answer residential concerns about electricity use, energy costs and nuisance issues.

Industry supporters argue data centers bring jobs and tax revenue and are an essential part of the nation's digital infrastructure. They warn that communities that block data centers are sacrificing those benefits.

The Denver City Council in May unanimously approved a one-year moratorium on data centers, halting new zoning permits and site development plans while the city drafts rules for future projects.

In April, Oklahoma City approved a similar moratorium that will be in effect until the end of this year, or until the city updates its zoning code. Tulsa, Oklahoma, also approved a temporary stop on new data center construction, though major projects already in the pipeline will be allowed to proceed.

Smaller communities are taking similar steps.

In Illinois, both Bloomington and Normal approved six-month moratoriums in May, and Morgan County took the same action in April. In Michigan, Huron County last week approved a three-year moratorium, joining roughly 20 other Michigan communities that have paused data center construction.

In Georgia, Camden County enacted a six-month moratorium in May, becoming the first community on the state's coast to do so. And a cluster of counties in North Carolina have hit pause, including Chatham County in February and Orange County (which includes Chapel Hill) in April.

But not all cities are souring on data centers: Cheyenne, Wyoming, last week opted not to proceed with a one-year moratorium after a lengthy public hearing.

A study released at the end of 2024 by researchers at the Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory estimated U.S. data centers used about 4.4 percent of U.S. electricity in 2023, with projected use rising to between 6.7 percent and 12 percent by 2028.

A March Gallup poll found that seven in 10 Americans would oppose the nearby construction of data centers for artificial intelligence, higher than the 53 percent of respondents who said they would oppose living near a nuclear power plant.

heart of what we do," noted School Board Treasurer Chris Carlson. "We want to extend a massive thank you to the Michigan Gateway Community Foundation and our anonymous donor. Managing school finances means making every dollar count, and these external partnerships significantly lessen the financial burden on our district while accelerating crucial infrastructure upgrades."

"Michigan Gateway Community Foundation is proud to award this grant to Buchanan High School to support improvements to the school's tennis courts," added Michael Rowland, President & Chief Executive Officer of Michigan Gateway Community Foundation. "This investment reflects the Foundation's ongoing commitment to enhancing local recreational and athletic opportunities for students and the broader community. Updated courts will provide a safer, more accessible, and higher-quality space for student-athletes and we're thrilled to partner with Buchanan Community Schools for these improvements."

Bringing competitions back to Buchanan

With the Board's official approval on May 18, logistics are already underway to get both projects started as soon as possible, ensuring minimal disruption to student-athletes and maximum excitement for the seasons ahead. The tennis court patching and recoating will begin this June. Following that, the track resurfacing project is slated to start July 2026, with a full completion expected by the start of the 2026-27 school year.

"Our track and tennis courts are hubs for pride and activity for Buchanan," said BHS Athletic Coordinator Reid McBeth. "Over time, weather and heavy use take a toll on these surfaces. Getting the track resurfaced and the tennis courts patched and recoated is a massive win for our athletic programs. We are especially looking forward to being able to once again host track meets right here at Buchanan High School. Our coaches and athletes are incredibly excited to compete on fresh, high-quality surfaces, and we can't wait to get these projects started."

While the $120,000 in combined donations and grants provides a significant boost, the remaining project costs will be covered by Buchanan's sinking fund.

A sinking fund is a specific tax levy approved by local community voters. By law, these funds can only be used for voter-approved purposes like building security enhancements, technology upgrades, and structural improvements – including school buildings and athletic facility repairs. They cannot be used for regular operating expenses or teacher salaries.

The Board of Education and district administration expressed their gratitude to the Buchanan Community Schools community for its continued support of the district.

STEVENSVILLE — The Niles and Vicksburg baseball teams split their regular-season matchups, so it was only right that the Division 2 regional semifinal at Lakeshore High School was the rubber match.

The Wolverine Conference foes faced off in a wire-to-wire battle that ended with a 2-1 Vikings loss on the final play of the game. With the game tied 1-1 at one in the bottom of the eighth, Maddox Rosalin singled off Jaxson Racht to score the game-winning Mitch Beyer run.

"We competed. We competed with great plays defensively," said Niles Coach Jim Brawley. "Offensively, we just didn't get the good hit. The [Grahan Kubiak] is good, we know they're good. They have a very good pitching staff, a really, really solid pitching staff. The kid threw the ball great for them. We had our opportunities and we just couldn't get the big hit when we needed to."

The game was scoreless through five innings as Racht and Vicksburg pitcher Grahan Kubiak refused to give up an inch. The Vikings struck first when a Bryce Zache single scored a Brenden Olsen run to give the Vikings a 1-0 lead in the sixth. Olsen, who was walked before stealing second base, was able to beat the ball home to score the run.

The Dowagiac softball team celebrates with the Division 2 district championship trophy Saturday at Niles High School.

Dowagiac blanks Three Rivers for first district title since '06

By MAXWELL HARDEN

NILES — Dowagiac has waited a long time to celebrate a district softball championship. But the wait is over.

The Chieftains beat Sturgis 15-0 in the Division 2 district semifinal and Three Rivers 5-0 in the final to earn the district championship, the team's first since 2006.

"I don't know if I have the words for it. We've been at it for a while," said Dowagiac Head Coach Mike Behnke. "These girls have been playing hard since they've been seven years old and they put a lot of time in softball, travel ball, high school ball; you name it and they've done it. They're just kind of reaping their rewards right now, but it's been a long time coming.

"I was there the last time years ago. It's just a great feeling and a great feeling for them."

Buchanan rallies past Bobcats to win sixth straight district

PMG STAFF

Red Arrow Raiders center fielder Laney Strother thwarts a home run ball during the May 30 district semifinal game against Buchanan.

THREE OAKS — The Buchanan softball team got past Brandywine and the Red Arrow Raiders to claim its sixth straight Division 3 district championship on Saturday.

The Bucks topped the Bobcats 7-4 in the final after a 12-2 five-inning triumph against the Raiders.

The games were played at River Valley High School.

Trailing 3-0, Brandywine pulled into a 3-3 tie in the bottom of the third thanks to an error and Macy Pellow's double before taking a 4-3 lead in the fourth as Addison Anglin singled in a run.

But Buchanan's Tala Carlin, Khloe Singleton and Terynn Heller all singled in runs in the top of the fifth inning to put their team on top for good.

"Keeping the streak of six straight district titles alive means a lot to all of us," said Buchanan Coach Rachel Carlson. "For the team, it's a source of pride and a reminder that every practice, every off-season workout matters. For me as coach, it's confirmation that our focus on fundamentals, preparation, and accountability is paying off. That said, we don't take past success for granted. This streak fuels our commitment to continue improving: showing up early, putting in the extra reps, supporting one another, and holding ourselves to a high standard both on and off the field.

"Our goal is to build a culture where hard work and teamwork are the expectations, not the exception."

Winning pitcher Haylee Legault allowed 10 hits and four runs (just one of them earned) while triking out two and walking one.

Brandywine fell to Schoolcraft in a Division 3 regional semifinal on Wednsday in Watervliet.

Schoolcraft bats end Brandywine's season

WATERVLIET — The Brandywine baseball team picked an inopportune time Wednesday for a letdown on the diamond.

Schoolcraft took advantage of five Brandywine errors to overcome a three-run deficit and record an eventual 13-3 mercy-rule Division 3 regional semifinal win in six innings at Watervliet.

Schoolcraft (17-11) advances to face Pewamo-Westphalia (20-15) in Saturday's 12:30 regional championship at Kalamazoo Central. Shelby meets Kalamazoo Christian in another regional final at 10 a.m. in the same location. The two regional winners hang around and square off at 3 p.m. in a state quarterfinal matchup.

"We talk about baseball in the state of Michigan coming down to one game. You have bad games, but you hope those are in April and not in June. This wasn't something I saw coming, but we just shot ourselves in the foot a great deal today. We played very solid baseball all year and hadn't had a game like this one. I love all our guys and to see them put there heart into it and watch it unravel like it did is heartbreaking. I know they were trying their hardest, we just had some things that didn't work out today," said Brandywine head coach David Sidenbender.

For a half inning Brandywine (30-6-1) looked like the team that dominated the Lakeland Conference all Spring and captured the school's first district crown in 18 years.

But baseball is a funny game and things can change drastically and they did for Brandywine after the opening inning.

Brandywine scored all three of its runs in the top of the first.

Three Buck players cleared the fence – Cora Weinberg, Kate Holloway and Terrynn Heller – in the district semifinal win.

Buchanan scored eight first-inning runs, with a series of run-scoring walks and a three-run triple by Aspen Berry triple aiding their cause.

Audrey Villaire was the winning pitcher.

Johnna Rochefort, Emerson Collins, Ella Lijewski, Brianna Taylor, Carlee Tanksley, and Addison Lynch each collected one hit for Red Arrow Raiders. Laney Strother and Rochefort each drove in one run for Red Arrow Raiders.

Brandywine bested Cassopolis 14-5 in the other semifinal.

DOWAGIAC

A wild Three Rivers pitch in the first inning resulted in Marlie Carpenter and Charlie Reed scoring one Dowagiac run apiece to put the Chieftains up 2-0. At the top of the fourth inning, Charleigh Reed found her way home thanks to a Bree Campbell sacrifice fly to give the Chieftains a 3-0 lead.

At the top of the fifth inning, a Reed single scored Lillian Cobb and a Bree Behnke double scored Reed to round out the scoring. The Wildcats had an opportunity to tie or take the lead with bases loaded at the bottom of the fourth inning before Campbell struck out two batters to end the inning. The Chieftains did not commit an error in the game.

"Three Rivers, we knew they're a great team," Behnke said. "We knew we're gonna have to play well. Assistant coach Brian Henry told the girls we're gonna get the breaks when it matters meeting at district – and we did – but we also made our own breaks that way. We ran the bases well, we played defense, made every play and our pitcher pitched well. She only had one walk and a hit batter. I mean, we did everything right: timely hitting, clutch hitting, two-out hitting, getting on base. We did it all today."

Reed tallied three hits, three runs scored and an RBI while Bree Behnke had a double and an RBI while Marlie Carpenter and Lillian Cobb each had a hit. with Carpenter and Reed both showing aggressive base-running to record stolen bases.

In the circle, Campbell tossed a complete-game seven inning shutout with 12 strikeouts while allowing just two hits and two walks.

Three Rivers pitcher Giavanna Newburry took the loss, striking out five batters and giving up five runs on six hits. London Hoffmaster and Autumn Schroeder each had one hit.

For Dowagiac, the district title win is an endeavor decades in the making and one the Chieftains were determined to accomplish after falling short against Edwardsburg last season in the district final.

"It means the world. I know it means the world of the three seniors but we had this goal since that loss last year at districts," Behnke said. "We were gonna come back and we said from the beginning of this year, 'why not us?' Why can't we do what other teams have done? We worked hard, and it's been a tough season. We were tested with injuries, losing close games and just anything that could go wrong, went wrong. And we overcame all of that and came out champions today."

All the more special for Behnke was being able to spend at least one more week coaching his daughter, Bree Behnke.

"It's special, especially since it's my last year, it's her last year and it is something very special going out on top like that as District Champions."

The icing on the cake for Behnke was Hall of Fame Dowagiac football coach Bernard Thomas presenting him with the district championship trophy. Behnke played for Thomas as a student and was one of the standouts on the 1990 state title team.

"I don't think people would realize how special that is to me," he said. "He was my coach when we won the state championship. I talked to him earlier this week, and he said, 'get me on the pass list and I'll be there.' [Athletic Director Brent Nate] got him on the pass list. He said if we won he'd have a surprise for me and there was nothing better than seeing Coach Thomas walking that trophy out on the field. That was something I'll never forget."

The Chieftains aim to keep the dream season alive next week when they face Vicksburg at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Division 2 regional semifinal.

"We're gonna have a good week of practice for sure this week, and we're gonna have to play like we played today," he said. "We're gonna have to play very good softball. I don't know what's happening in the other districts, but the top three teams in the state are in each one of those districts, so it is not going to be easy. But we can beat anybody on any given day, that's for sure."

Kaeden Warfield led off the game for the Bobcats with a triple. Emerson Googley and Ryder Richard both walked to load the bases. Warfield scored on Hudson Aalfs' fielder's choice. Richard came home on a wild pitch and Googley scored on a sacrifice-fly by Kyler Marshall.

Schoolcraft scored six runs in the bottom of the second to grab a 6-3 lead.

Winn Evans blasted a two-run single to score Schoolcraft teammates Cody Priest and Bishop Hotrum. Zach Graber had an RBI single that plated JD Perrin. Evans, Graber and Kodee Bienz all scored on a three-run triple by Ty Goddard.

Schoolcraft tacked on its next two runs in the bottom of the third. Priest scored on a throwing error and Goddard came home on a wild pitch, extending the Eagles' lead to 8-3.

The Eagles added three runs in the fourth to boost its advantage to 11-3. Jacob Taylor scored on an error for Schoolcraft, while teammates Jack DeVries and Priest both scored on a wild pitch.

Schoolcraft scored the decisive two runs to win on the 10-run mercy rule in the bottom of the sixth. Hotrum scored on an error and Graber's RBI single scored Hotrum.

Goddard picked up the win on the mound for Schoolcraft allowing three hits, two walks with five strikeouts.

Aalfs started and was charged with the loss for Brandywine. Aalfs allowed four hits, two walks and struck out two. He got relief help from Richard and Parker Anglin.

"I thought our pitchers did well. We just didn't have command on the mound like we usually do and couldn't find the strike zone. Schoolcraft hit the ball well and found the holes. We threw the ball around a little today which isn't typical of us. Things just kind've snowballed from there. Schoolcraft just made some good plays that snuffed out any hopes we had of a rally," Sidenbender said.

The game was the final one for Brandywine seniors Richard, Warfield and Marshall.

'Those three guys were the heart of our team not only offensively and defensive, but by keeping the team up and positive. Richard leads by example. Kaeden is one of the most athletic kids I've ever had. Kyler is a very positive and athletic kid who really blossomed this year on the mound and at shortstop," Sidenbender said.

The Bobcats' long-time skipper stated there were several accomplishments on the diamond that made this season very special.

"Winning conference for a third straight year was a big goal these kids had, along with winning our first district title since 2008. We didn't lose a single game at home either out of probably 18 or 20. These kids competed hard and rattled off some big wins over Vicksburg, Edwardsburg, Lakeshore and South Bend St. Joseph. I just loved the way this group competed all season," Sidenbender said.

Schoolcraft continues to get better the further they get into the postseason under first-year head coach Dale Beeney, who is best known for winning state titles at New Buffalo and Bridgman.

"We started the game with some hiccups, but there's a lot of belief and grit with this ballclub. Our kids did a nice job pushing the ball to the right side. This is a good core group of kids who are really tight. All of them play different sports and they come together as a family in baseball," Beeney said.

Niles cheers as the Vikings face Vicksburg during Wednesday's regional semifinal in Stevensville.

Niles' Brenden Olsen celebrates with Brody Lace after scoring during Wednesday's regional semifinal against Vicksburg in Stevensville.

"We just put the ball in play and got a guy on," Brawley said. "Then, a hard ground ball and they tried to flip it to second, but our speed beat them there. And then Olsen on the bases, he scores from second on a ball that doesn't leave the infield; that's just heads-up baseball. He's looking at the third base coach, getting a wave sign with two outs, and just playing through the play. That's just playing through the play."

In the bottom of the seventh, Vicksburg's Braylin Vallier singled to center field on a full count, which brought Spencer Spicer home to tie the game at 1-1.

Maddox Rosalin tallied three hits for Vicksburg and Vallier had two hits. Kubiak struck out seven batters and gave up just two hits and one earned run. In his last game in a Vikings uniform, Racht struck out six batters and gave up eight hits and one earned run in 7.1 innings. Acie Kirtdoll and Bryce Zache each had one hit.

"We got to score more than one," Brawley said. "When you only score one, that puts a lot of pressure on your pitcher to be perfect. [Racht] was perfect for six, then they get a walk in the seventh, and it leads to a run. But he pitched great. That's a great hitting offensive team, and he pitched great against them. So, like I said, we just gotta score more than one."

While the loss was tough to swallow, Brawley was proud of the way his team competed this season and what they accomplished.

"They're just winners," he said. "They won three district championships, and they won two conference championships," Brawley said. "They broke the school record for wins this year. They're just winners, and they didn't play any cupcakes on the schedule. After Byron Center, we went to Jenison, we played [Middlebury Northridge and [Nappanee Northwood]. We played Vicksburg team three times and Lakeshore four times. We played a tough schedule, and they're just winners. That's what they do in everything—they won in football, they won in basketball. They're just winners."

He praised seniors including Kirtdoll, Racht and Olsen for what they have given to the program.

"Yeah, it's gonna be sad seeing them go but they're gonna go on to bigger and better things, too," Brawley continued. "Olsen's going to get drafted. Jaxson's gonna go pitch somewhere—Youngstown State, probably, that's where he's committed to. But Eastern also wants him now, too, because they had a coaching change."

As the book closes on the 2026 season, Brawley is optimistic about what the future holds for the program.

"We're gonna be fine," he said. "We talk about this, this is why it's always hard for me to retire," Brawley said. "You lose great players but nobody realizes that we really start five underclassmen – We start a freshman and four juniors. We got five guys coming back who are starters, plus we got our utility guy, Vinny Vance, who's going to be a great player for us, too. So we'll have talent. We'll be all right. It sucks right now, but we'll be all right."

Venezuela fans take photos of their beers before a Copa America quarterfinal soccer match between Venezuela and Canada on July 5, 2024, in Arlington, Texas.

Many soccer fans will be drinking alcohol and watching the World Cup

By DORANY PINEDA
Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — It was early morning on a recent Saturday and The Greyhound Bar & Grill in Los Angeles was abuzz with soccer fans clapping, hooting and hollering. Their eyes were glued to the TV screens, tables littered with beer pints and pitchers and other boozy libations.

Paris Saint-Germain and Arsenal were facing off in the Champions League final, and by 9:20 a.m. – less than a half hour into the game – the patrons inside this crowded bar had already purchased $1,300 in alcohol.

"It's just a better vibe when you're a little buzzed," said Madeline Guillen, 28, who was drinking a mimosa with friends. "That's a big thing about sports. I think sports and drinking go hand-in-hand."

Drinking alcohol while watching sports is common in many countries, and millions of soccer fans will be doing so this summer during the FIFA World Cup games in Mexico, Canada and the United States. But imbibing boozy drinks during what could be a sizzling June and July has some experts worried. They say mixing alcohol with extreme heat poses extra risks, especially people drinking excessively who may not be hydrating enough, staying cool, or have underlying health conditions.

Here's what to know about the science of extreme heat and drinking alcohol, plus tips from experts if you're going to be drinking while watching soccer on a hot summer's day.

When summer, sports and booze collide

Climate change, caused by burning coal, oil and gas, is making heat deadlier worldwide, especially in the summer, and that's raising worries about soccer players and fans suffering heat stress during the games. Heat also influences how people drink alcohol and whether they end up in the hospital.

Various studies from around the world show that drinking alcohol peaks in the summer, and that people living in hotter climates are more likely to binge drink, according to a study from Mexico.

There is also sometimes a "hedonic effect" where people drink to ease the discomfort of feeling hot, said Nathan Morris, assistant professor in thermoregulation at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs. "We drink alcohol, we feel good, and so it masks that normal drive to do something to cool yourself down," which can lead to heat stress.

"Maybe we stay out in the heat longer. Maybe we drink less cold water. Maybe we're less likely to use a fan or seek an air conditioned space," he added. "I think that might be where we're seeing more of the strain on the body."

International research has also established links between heavy drinking and sports spectators. One paper from Australia found that participants self-reported consuming an average of five drinks in just over two hours while watching Australian football games. In a 2023 study, researchers found that higher temperatures resulted in more alcohol-related hospital visits in New York state.

Heat and alcohol, a riskier mix

Heat exhaustion happens when your body loses too much water and salt from excessive sweating. When the body can no longer cool itself, heat stroke occurs, which can cause confusion, loss of consciousness and even death. Heat combined with humidity – the kind of weather in host cities like Miami, Houston and Monterrey, Mexico – makes it harder for sweat to evaporate to cool the body.

Alcohol primarily affects the central nervous system – your body's master processing center responsible for your thoughts, feelings and movements.

When you combine fluid loss from sweating on a hot day with increased urination from drinking alcohol, it can lead to dehydration, which can make you feel the effects of drinking faster, according to the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. Additionally, studies show drinking on a hot day makes it less likely you'll wear sunscreen, and that alcohol reduces the amount of heat exposure needed to get sunburnt.

"If you put together hot weather, summer, crowd, during the World Cup, people are sweating more, so they're losing liquids from their body," said Dr. Lorenzo Leggio, physician and scientist with the National Institutes of Health.

Bears' Williams strikes jump-throw pose for new Madden NFL 27 cover

This image provided by EA Sport shows Chicago Bears quarterback Caleb Williams on the cover of the Madden NFL 27 video game.

Chicago Bears quarterback Caleb Williams was announced Tuesday as EA Sports' cover athlete for Madden NFL 27.

On the standard cover, Williams is depicted in a body position similar to his pivotal, scrambling, fourth-and-8 jump pass to Rome Odunze in a stirring comeback victory over Green Bay in a wild card playoff game on Jan. 10.

With his arm cocked to throw and his feet spread, Williams appears to soar above a silhouette of the Chicago skyline that is set against a blue backdrop.

The deluxe edition features a tight shot of Williams with arms crossed over his white game jersey, a dark, night-like background and snow falling around him.

Being featured on the game's cover is "like my childhood dream was coming true," Williams said. "I grew up playing Madden and imagining what it would be like to be part of the game."

Williams and the 2025 Bears became synonymous with late-game theatrics last season, staging more than a handful of comeback victories to go with some dramatic comeback bids that came up just short – including their season-ending playoff loss to the Los Angeles Rams.

In 17 regular-season games, Williams passed for a franchise-record 3,942 yards with 27 touchdowns and seven interceptions in his second season since being drafted first overall out of Southern California.

Coach: Sewell's move to blind side will be an easy move

By LARRY LAGE

Chris Szagola / AP

Detroit Lions tackle Penei Sewell plays during a game against the Philadelphia Eagles on Nov. 16, 2025.

ALLEN PARK — The Detroit Lions are asking perhaps their best player, offensive tackle Penei Sewell, to change positions this season and fully expect a seamless transition.

"It'll be like riding a bike for him," Lions coach Dan Campbell said Friday before the team's workout. "Will there be things he'll have to learn? Yeah, of course there will be. But I mean, he has played left. That's muscle memory. He played a lot of left in college and for us for those in '21."

Sewell is one of five players to have been an All-Pro three times and selected to the Pro Bowl four times during his first five seasons.

Anthony Munoz, Tony Boselli and Joe Thomas all did it over the last half-century at left tackle, and Jim Parker did so while playing three positions in the late 1950s and early 1960s, according to Sportradar.

Detroit is making the move to replace Taylor Decker while putting first-round pick Blake Miller or newly acquired veteran Larry Borom at Sewell's previous spot at right tackle.

"Sewell can do it all," Campbell said.

Detroit drafted Sewell out of Oregon, where he was an award-winning left tackle, with the No. 7 pick five years ago.

Sewell started the first eight games of his career in 2021 at left tackle because Decker was injured, making him the youngest left tackle to start an NFL game at 20 years old.

The Lions shifted him to right tackle midway through his rookie year and he stayed there for the last four-plus seasons, other than a short stint during the 2023 season when Decker was hurt again.

Decker asked for his release during the offseason, ending a 10-year run as the team's starting left tackle after announcing he was coming back instead of retiring. The Lions addressed the void by taking Miller out of Clemson with the No. 17 pick last month.

Sewell, who is in the first season of a four-year, $112 million contract, has proven to be quite a pick for Detroit.

He earned first-team, All-Pro honors the last three years and Pro Bowl recognition four straight times. Sewell has started 83 times in the regular season, plus four playoff games, in five years to help the long-suffering franchise become a respected team in the league.

"We expected great things from him from the beginning, and he's done nothing to disprove that," said Lions assistant general manager Ray Agnew, who has been a part of the NFL for nearly four decades. "I think he's one of the best that ever did it."

Campbell said the 6-foot-5, 335-pound Sewell is athletic enough to play guard or even tight end, but switching sides for an offensive lineman can be challenging.

Players who have made the move say it's like driving a car with the opposite foot or shaving with their other hand. The footwork is different as is the hand-and-eye coordination required on each side.

"When you switch, you have a different leg up front," Sewell has said. "So you have to push off a different leg every time. You have to train this leg that's been back the whole time and catching to now pushing."

Muhammad Ali, right, launches an attack on Joe Bugner, British and European heavyweight champion, during their 12 round heavyweight fight in Las Vegas on Feb. 14, 1973.

Muhammad Ali's family reflects on the champion boxer's legacy 10 years after his 2016 death

By DYLAN LOVAN
Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Muhammad Ali's legacy extends beyond his stinging right jab, world titles and Olympic gold medal, to the heart and compassion he showed long after he left the ring, his wife Lonnie Ali said.

"He transcended boxing into every space you can imagine," she told The Associated Press this week ahead of the 10-year anniversary of Ali's death on June 3, 2016, after a long battle with Parkinson's disease.

"Muhammad lived by this mantra: service to others is the rent we pay for our room here on earth," Lonnie Ali said during an interview at The Muhammad Ali Center in Louisville, Kentucky. "He showed up every day with kindness and empathy in his heart for people who are in need."

Ali, known as the "Louisville Lip" in his hometown, rose to prominence as a trash-talking world champion boxer in the 1960s and began speaking about civil rights issues as his star was rising. He is widely regarded as the most famous and influential boxer of all time, winning the heavyweight title three times.

The Ali Center is sponsoring a "Day of Compassion" on Wednesday, the 10th anniversary of his death, to promote acts of service and caring. Lonnie Ali, who serves as the center's lifetime director, said the hope is an expanding annual event to highlight works of service and volunteering.

The day will focus on one of "the core values that made up Muhammad Ali" in an increasingly divided country, she said.

"Today, we are in a place where we are losing touch with our humanity and with each other," she said. "It's causing rifts, not just in families and communities, but in this nation. We're becoming increasingly polarized and separated, and sort of retreating to people who think like us, look like us, and not really reaching out."

She also challenged political leaders to lead with compassion, noting the recent weakening of the 1965 Voting Rights Act by the Supreme Court.

"We should always be thinking about how we can uplift a community, not how we can make it harder for them," Lonnie Ali said. "We want equal representation in this country. You can't have equal representation when you're denying people voting rights, you can't do that."

But there is hope, she said, and she saw that when the city of Louisville came together for a weeklong celebration of Ali's life in 2016. The week was capped by a funeral procession through the city and past her late husband's modest childhood home near downtown Louisville. Former President Bill Clinton and actor Billy Crystal spoke at his funeral, and Will Smith, who portrayed Ali in a 2001 movie, was a pallbearer.

The outpouring of love for Ali at his hometown funeral service was livestreamed to millions around the world. A decade later, Ali's face graced a U.S. Postal Service stamp for the first time, showing his enduring influence.

"We're talking about people who traveled thousands of miles to come here, who had never met the man, never laid eyes on him personally, but wanted to ... give their last respects to him: kings, princes, presidents, heads of state, celebrities, sports figures," Lonnie Ali said.

Edwardsburg falls to Three Rivers 2-0 in district semifinals

NILES — Edwardsburg's softball season came to an end May 30 in a 2-0 loss to Three Rivers in Division 2 district semifinal play at Niles High School.

"They fought hard," said Edwardsburg coach Ali Kozinski. "This team beat us twice already this season, and so I'm really proud of the fight they put in, and it was a pitchers' battle. Disappointing our bats couldn't come alive."

The game was scoreless through six innings as Three Rivers pitcher Gia Newbury and Edwardsburg pitcher Kennidie Flanery dueled in the circle. The Wildcats scored both runs in the top of the seventh as Elizabeth Oestrike drove in Emmy Quake and Dani Glass drove in Oestrike with base hits.

"They just kept putting the ball in play and made our defense work and light a couple through, and we couldn't put the ball in play to let their defense work," Kozinski said. "That's the difference."

Autumn Schroeder, London Hoffmaster, Ashlynn Barnes, Mia Thomas, Madison Carr, Quake and Glass each had one hit. Olivia Jamison, Kyla Heflin and Victoria Pulling tallied hits for Edwardsburg

Newburry allowed three hits and struck out six for Three Rivers. Flannery struck out three Wildcats and allowed seven hits and two runs.

"[Flanery] gave a great effort," Kozinski said. "She's a senior, she pitched her heart out. She really wanted that one. I'm really proud of her, so she was our stud this year."

While the desired outcome was not reached, Kozinski is proud of her team and the way they battled throughout the season.

"They just want it," she said. "They fight hard, and they work hard in practice because they just want to win and they want to do good and they are a great team. They mesh really well. They were a lot of fun."

Dowagiac loses 1-0 to Three Rivers

COMSTOCK — The Dowagiac girls soccer team's historic season came to an end Friday night.

The Chieftains fell 1-0 to Three Rivers in the Division 3 district championship game. Three Rivers will advance to face Grand Rapids West Catholic Tuesday in the regional semifinals in Grand Rapids.

"Tonight, I was extremely proud of them," said Dowagiac coach Joe Pasternak. "For 80 full minutes, it was non-stop hustle. We did everything right, except put one in the back of the net. That's just the way it goes sometimes. You do every single thing right except the finish part. So, I'm extremely proud of them and the effort they've put in, and not just tonight but all season long."

With the game tied 0-0 with just under 21 minutes left, Three Rivers' Natalie McGahan beat goalkeeper Chloe Friske for the game-clinching goal. Moments later, Johannah McDonald and the Chieftains (13-2-3)had a potential game-tying goal overturned due to an offside call.

"Our forward just didn't get back in time and that went right to her," Pasternak said. "I didn't see the offside, so I didn't know for sure, but I trust what happened. Like I said, it was just one other thing that didn't go our way."

The Chieftains, who were in control for most of the game, generated several shots on goal but were not able to connect.

"I don't think [Three Rivers] did anything different. They are just a very competitive, fresh, and aggressive team," Pasternak said. "That causes a lot of problems for any team. When teams hustle, it makes things difficult and makes you have to do things faster than what you're used to. There's no way to really prepare in practice for intensity like a district championship game and that speed. Credit to them, they were able to finish their opportunity. I thought we controlled the majority of the game, we just couldn't finish."

The Chieftains will return the majority of this year's team but gone will be four-year starters Alivia Bell and Johannah McDonald. McDonald rewrote the school record book several times during her time with the program, including records for career goals and goals in a season, boys or girls.

"She has been a staple of what we want out of our program," Pasternak said of McDonald. "When I took over, things were a lot different, and she was bought in 100 percent to the extra effort, the off-season workouts, everything. As great of a player as she is, I think her work ethic has made it so much better for her. It's not just natural talent. There was a lot of hard work and dedication, and she really is an example of what we want in our program moving forward."

While the outcome is not what he wanted, Pasternak was proud of his team's accomplishments this season, which included winning the first conference championship in program history.

"The conference championship was awesome," he said. "They've accomplished so much. The junior class right now, their freshman year was not a very good year, and just to see how much we have built together as a group. It was a special group bringing everybody back from last year, and it's still a special group. We're losing key players, but we're only losing two, so everybody's coming back. I'm excited for this group for next year. It was a lot of fun.

"Apart from the winning, it's just a great group of girls that work hard and have fun at the same time. So I'm super proud of them."
